

What can I do outside of the classroom?

San Francisco sits in an extremely fertile area with a year-long growing season. There are thousands of farms in the surrounding counties, several of which welcome school groups for tours and other activities. Some farmers are also willing to visit classrooms to give presentations. See the table below for ideas on possible field trips in our area. Some sites have guided tours while other have less formal visit days. Some tours are free while other charge a fee and have extended stay options available. The distance listed is an approximation of miles from San Francisco's Civic Center to the specific site. Contact these sites or San Francisco Food Systems for more information. Have a great trip!
